

DYNAMITE WRECKS COLUMBUS HOME

COLD, ROUGH WATER BLAMED FOR DEATH OF TRAPPED DIVER

Body Shows Bruises
Caused By Severe
River Currents

MONTREAL, Jan. 31.—The body of Peter Trans, the diver who was trapped under the icy waters of an arm of the St. Lawrence River where he was held prisoner for almost seventy-two hours, was found today, while his widow and two sons, who intended to join him in Canada this spring, were cabled of his death.

Trans' body was brought to the surface yesterday after divers, rushed to the isolated village of Pointe Aux Outardes by plane from Quebec and untangled the equipment which held him under the icy waters until he was dead.

Examination of the body showed the whirling currents had caused severe bruises and almost completely wore away his suit. How long Trans lived after his gear became unfastened was not determined.

Trans, working on a paper company project at Pointe Aux Outardes, went into the water Monday morning. He was believed to have first fallen, and then attempting to get on his feet, had become entangled in his lines. An air line was kept free and during the time he was submerged, air was supplied him. The extreme cold and the rush of the water, beating his body against timbers in a dam "café" where he was working, caused death.

Trans, who was 38 years old, came to Canada two years ago from Denmark, where his family resides. It was learned he had a premonition that ill luck was to befall him on his last job for he told a Montreal friend a few days ago:

"I don't like this job, but I never have refused to go down and I don't expect I ever shall, whether I come up again or not."

The friend told authorities today of his conversation with Trans.

FREED OF MURDER CHARGE BY COURT

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Jan. 31.—Frank Teneletti, 34, Uhrichville, is free today, following action of Judge E. E. Lindsey, who nolleed the first degree murder indictment which was standing against him, upon the advice of Prosecuting Attorney Joseph P. Kuhns. The indictment was returned January 17.

Prosecuting Attorney Kuhns held that the state did not have enough evidence to convict Teneletti on any charge.

Teneletti was held for the killing of Chas. Orland Egan, 30, of Midvale, after he was found dead on the floor of a Midvale mine-stable on September 27, last.

The freed man was arrested January 2, by Police Chief Martin Myers, at Dennison.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Nathan Strauss, philanthropist and Zionist leader, today celebrated his eighty-second birthday.

"I am happy to have lived to see the practical beginnings of universal peace," Strauss said.

"The London conference for limitation and reduction of armaments is the most significant and vital move in the direction of everlasting peace. I fervently pray that it will lead the results which all right-thinking humanity is hoping for."

"I am particularly happy that America has taken the moral leadership in this question which directly affects the welfare of this generation and of the future of mankind."

FIRE RAZES BUILDING

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 31.—Fire of undetermined origin swept a brick building in the heart of the downtown market district here early today, causing damage estimated at $10,000. Eight fire companies battled the blaze for several hours before it was brought under control.

RUNS IN UNDIES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—To win a $50 bet from his wife, Andrew Madden clad only in a union suit, ran several blocks through the heaviest snow storm the capital has seen in eight years, to a bakery, got a pint of milk and escaped arrest.

He had awakened in broad daylight, blinked his eyes, hunted for his clothes and found his wife had locked them up.

"You bet me $50 last night you would go to the bakery in your union suit," said the wife. "I collect, don't I?"

Madden didn't hesitate a minute. He collected the fifty, but shocked several women in the streets as he flitted past.

BATTLESHIP CUT ALL EXPECTED

OKLAHOMA'S LIQUOR SCANDAL MAY REACH INTO STATE CAPITOL

HE'S TOUGH BABY!

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The first 100 years are the hardest, according to Francisco Boggiano, and he should know. He celebrated his 100th birthday last September. Yesterday he was strolling along thinking about what a huge truck knocked him down.

Bystanders thought Boggiano was dead but the 100-year-old man walked just hopped to his feet and started in doing setting up exercises to show police, who wanted to send him to a hospital, that everything was jake.

SAYS AGRICULTURE STATUS CAUSED BY MANY FARMING ILLS

Secretary Hyde Says
Over-Expansion Partly To Blame

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 31.—The plight in which agriculture finds itself is not due to any one cause but to many, while the whole program of economic equality for agriculture is a broad one, Secretary of Agriculture A. M. Hyde told the Illinois Agricultural Association today.

One element of the farm problem which has been an important contributing cause of agricultural distress is over expansion, he said. This is not confined to the United States but is also to be found in Europe. There has been a great increase in land under cultivation in relatively new agricultural countries and a tremendous expansion of tropical agriculture, he said.

Hyde said other nations were striving to emulate the efficiency of the American farmer, pointing out that in five years exports of American farm machinery have nearly doubled, rising from $60,000,000 in 1924 to $116,350,000 in 1928.

"These figures take no account of the production of American owned factories in Canada, Sweden, Germany and France," he said. "The manufacture of agricultural implements in these countries has greatly expanded since the war. Notable among them is Germany, who has almost literally beaten her swords into plowshares by turning her great Krupp gun works over to the manufacture of farm machinery."

SLAYER DUSTS OFF ELECTRIC CHAIR

OSISING, N. Y., Jan. 31.—"The least they could have done was to give a man a clean chair."

Those were the words, guards said today, of Michael Sclafoni, Brooklyn gunman, just before he was executed last night in Sing Sing prison.

After making this remark, Sclafoni turned around, calmly took a towel from one of the guards and carefully dusted off the death chair.

Sclafoni was put to death with Frank Plala for the murder, a year ago, of Sorro Graziano and his young wife near Franklin Square, Long Island. Plala was executed first, going to his death smilingly and calmly, after smoking a cigarette and swagging to the electric chair.

HANGED TWICE FOR DOUBLE SLAYING

BALTIMORE, Jan. 31.—John Jackson, 56, Negro, mounted the concrete scaffold in the Maryland penitentiary early today to be killed for murdering two Negroes.

The trap was sprung and the Negro's body fell through the trap, swung momentarily on the end of the rope and fell to the floor.

Another rope was quickly procured, fastened to the prisoner's neck, and once more his body shot through the trap. It hanged there until a physician said life was extinct. The warden believed Jackson's neck was broken by the first fall.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Search was made today for two young men, believed to have shot to death Policeman Maurice O'Brien, 24. The officer was found dead on a sidewalk after he was seen talking to two men in a Spanish section. The men fled in an automobile.

POLICEMAN SLAIN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Bootlegging promises to outdo congress in affording speedy farm relief and in bringing riches to the corn belt, said an editorial in Industrial and Engineering Chemistry, official journal of the American Chemical Society, which issued today.

"Production of corn sugar is increasing enormously and is finding its way into the market."

WASH. (AP)—The editorial, which is a position taken by Prohibition Commissioner J. M. Doran, is declared to be the target for extremists despite plain evidence that law violations arise from other sources. It is being hampered and annoyed, while the real offenders, command-

Prosecutor Asserts Bribe Money Led To State House

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Jan. 31.—The first government witnesses were called today in the Seminole oil field liquor conspiracy trial in federal court here to substantiate the opening statement of assistant United States attorney, Herbert K. Hyde that "the stream of justice was polluted in Pottawatomie County from the constable to the state capitol."

State official circles were highly excited over Hyde's assertion, which came wholly without previous intimation, that government evidence would show a substantial portion of the huge sum alleged to have been collected by the oil field "rum racketeers" found its way to the state house in Oklahoma City.

The young prosecutor, who before joining the district attorney's office here, was private secretary to United States Senator W. B. Pine of Oklahoma, painted a vivid picture of the prospective evidence. He promised testimony showing that from the fall of 1925, when the Seminole area began approaching its record as the world's greatest light oil field, to September 1929, it was the headquarters of a gigantic liquor manufacturing and distributing system, with huge stills, some of them adjoining Grady County, and that the system had 171 retail establishments and truck lines to Oklahoma City and elsewhere.

He named Frank Fox, former sheriff, Randall Pittman, the present county attorney; Homer Kaapenberger, former mayor of Earlsboro, and Clarence Burdette and Marion Fuller, former Earlsboro police chiefs, as kingpins in the racket organization collecting from $2,000 to $4,000 a week from bootleggers in protection fees.

A ten-year-old girl, with a negro mother and a Seminole Indian father, would testify, Hyde said, that the collector making his weekly visit, broke her bank for pennies to take out the weekly license fee for the family beer joint.

Aked parents would tell from the stand, the prosecutor asserted, that when they complained to Sheriff Fox that their sons were acting as collectors, Fox retorted, "Sure, I'm hiring them for that purpose."

Money collected from bootleggers was frequently divided in an office at the Pottawatomie County courthouse in Tecumseh, Hyde said the evidence would reveal.

TRAPPED DIVER DIES IN RIVER

Artist Scott's conception of the attempted rescue of Peter Trans, diver, whose body was brought to the surface of the Outardes river in Quebec after remaining sixty-nine hours in the icy waters when he became entangled in his own living apparatus 29 feet below the surface. Levi Begh and Quenel Morency, rescue divers, brought the body to the surface. Map, inset, shows where the tragedy occurred, 200 miles north of the city of Quebec. The rescue divers were brought to the scene by airplane.

GOVERNOR ORDERS CHICAGO AND COOK COUNTY TO COLLECT TAXES

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Governor Louis Emmerson today took an active part in Chicago's financial crisis by demanding that the city and Cook County begin the long overdue collection of taxes and pay the state of Illinois $30,000,000 now due.

The governor wants to know when the first of these taxes are going to be made and what efforts, if any, are being made to reassess and begin collections.

Chicago's financial muddle, according to the governor's viewpoint, is holding up education and other vital necessities throughout the state.

At a meeting with tax officials today Governor Emmerson will ask the boards of assessors and review to explain the long delay which has left 1928 and 1929 taxes uncanceled.

Meanwhile a definite ray of hope dawned today which indicates the S. H. Strawn citizen's relief committee may yet administer first aid to the overdue payrolls. Strawn indicated his relief committee can probably summon $1,957,000 which will tide the 40,000 unpaid employees over for another month.

PASS CRAMTON BILL TO FINANCE BUYING LAND FOR MEMORIAL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Conservationists of the nation and congress today had won half their battle to prevent rich power interests from obtaining control of the great falls of the Potomac near the national capital and thus blocking an ambitious program to build one of the world's finest memorials to George Washington, the nation's first president.

The victory came with passage of the Cramton bill by the house authorizing the expenditure of $1,000,000 for land along the Potomac River for park purposes and a memorial boulevard from Mount Vernon to Great Falls.

The bill was sent on to the senate, where it is expected that conservationists will demand amendments forever barring power interests from Great Falls.

The fight has attracted the interests of city planners and advocates of conservation of national beauty spots in all parts of the country.

Representative Cramton (R) of Michigan, who led the fight for the bill, charged that the chief opposition came from rich power interests, who already have applications before the federal power commission for use of Great Falls.

He accused persons who have received "high honors through the Republican party in this state, of working hand in hand with the Democratic leaders."

CORN SUGAR IS MENACE OF PROHIBITION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Washing promises to outdo congress in affording speedy farm relief and in bringing riches to the corn belt, said an editorial in Industrial and Engineering Chemistry, official journal of the American Chemical Society, which issued today.

"Production of corn sugar is increasing enormously and is finding its way into the market."

STABILIZATION OF OTHER CATEGORIES ALSO BEING SOUGHT

Japan And France To Furnish Problem For Conference

LONDON, Jan. 31.—Reduction in battleships and stabilization of other categories at about the present levels—these stood out today as the principal achievements the London naval arms conference can hope to obtain.

Ten days of the most intensive work among the delegates of the other four powers have convinced the Americans that no more can be hoped for at the present conference. If they can accomplish this much there will be general satisfaction notwithstanding the fact that such results would represent a considerable come-down from President Hoover's high hopes for "real reduction" in all classes of naval craft.

It is significant that although the conference is now two weeks old and innumerable hours have been spent in conferences and private discussions there has as yet been little talk of actual figures.

Nevertheless, it is well known that when the appropriate time comes France and Japan are going to demand auxiliary ships greatly in excess of the battleship ratio. In some categories it is expected they will demand approximately equal strength with the United States and Great Britain.

Japan already has served notice in the preliminary conversations that she will demand submarine parity with the strongest. She has indicated that she considers 30,000 tons in undersea craft an irreducible minimum. That figure represents much more than she now has.

What is true in submarines is largely true in other categories outside battleships.

There is a good deal of sympathy between the French and Japanese positions. Both countries feel that they didn't get as much as they were entitled to at the Washington conference of 1921-1922. Both feel that the positions of their territories should have been given more consideration. They intend to make up for what they lost at Washington at the London conference.

This presents a pretty problem for the government of Premier Ramsay MacDonald. Because of the relation of the British dominions to the mother country, Britain has more to worry about from French and Japanese demands than the

FLOODS STILL MENACE STATE

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 31.—A ten foot wall of water in the Wabash River valley today threatened to break through the ice wall holding it and inundate a new territory peopled by scores of families.

Many have prepared to evacuate their homes should the flood descend. Some whose homes lie in the path of the flood have already left for higher ground.

The water and ice have receded somewhat, relief workers report. Airplanes continue to drop bags of food and clothing to families residing in areas still inaccessible.

RUBBER MERGER

AKRON, O., Jan. 31.—Formal announcement of the merger of the Falls Rubber Co., of Cuyahoga Falls and the Cooper Tire and Rubber Co., of Findlay, O., was expected to be made sometime today. Details of the proposed combine were practically completed at a conference yesterday, directors of the two companies declared.

KNOWN GANGSTER SOUGHT FOR MURDER OF TAXICAB OFFICIAL

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Police spread a city-wide dragnet today for Robert Schmidt, reputed gangster, whose arrest has been ordered in connection with the murder of Barney J. Mitchell, treasurer of the Checker Taxicab Company, and George Jackson, his chauffeur.

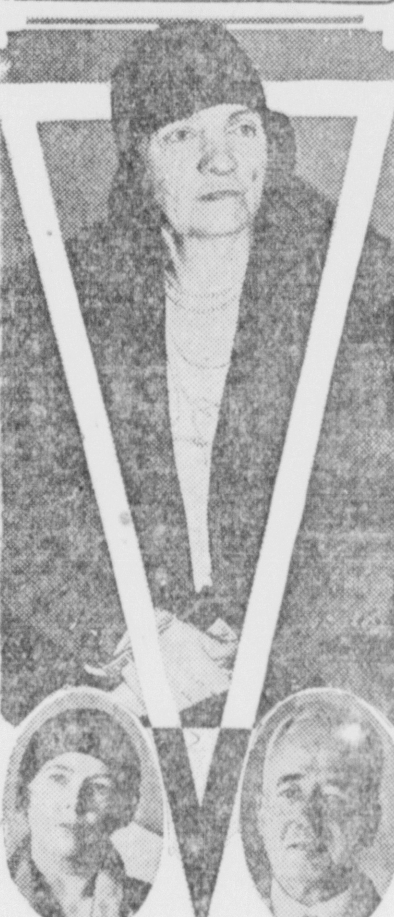

The two men were slain yesterday in Jackson's cab when Mitchell was returning home from an all night champagne party of Checker Company officials.

Schmidt, Lieut. McGinnis said in ordering his arrest, was reputed to have been employed by an officer of the Checker organization. McGinnis refused to say what evidence he holds.

Schmidt's police record has three linked him with Eugene (Red) McLaughlin, brother of Robert McLaughlin, Checker president at whose home the champagne party was held.

Police believe the assassins lay in wait to kill all the departing guests, but Mitchell was the only one who left the car, remaining with them.

BOTH LOVE HIM

Mrs. Mattie Hutchinson (top) and Mrs. Edith Taylor (lower left) and Samuel S. Hutchinson, Chicago film distributor, figure in the strange "triangle love trial" at Los Angeles. Mrs. Hutchinson, during the trial of her $500,000 suit against Mrs. Taylor for alienation of affections, testified that although her husband had deceived her for twenty years she still loved him. Mrs. Taylor, "the other woman," told the court that she also loved Hutchinson.

ACCUSE OHIO MAYOR OF VIOLATING LAW; SHORTAGE IS FOUND

Examiner Reports Irregularities In Village Books

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 31.—Claims that R. F. Andess, as mayor of the village of Londonderry, Ashland County, failed to enter upon his criminal docket certain fines and costs collected; that in some instances the amounts entered upon the docket were less than the amounts actually collected, and that fines and costs were not deposited, are contained in a report which was made public here today by State Auditor Joseph Tracy.

The report covers an examination of the public records of the villages of Ashland County by State Examiner Elmer A. Zook for the period from March 25, 1927, to November 12, 1928.

Declaration that Mayor Andess owed the village $239.45, as fines and costs collected in ordinance cases and owed Ashland County $189.55 as fines and costs collected in state cases, is embodied in the report.

The report stated that these fines and costs totaling $429 had not been deposited and that the mayor did not enter them on his books. The mayor according to the report, told Examiner Zook that he (Andess) was willing to pay these amounts, with certain exceptions, but that he was unable to account for "cases wherein no record was found on file, not being entered on his criminal docket."

DODGES AUTO—KILLED

GALLIPOLIS, O., Jan. 31.—Attempting to dodge an automobile that was nearing him, proved fatal today for Eugene Collins, 70, of Crown Point, near here, when he accidentally stepped off a bridge. He was killed by the fall.

PAIR CONVICTED

WILMINGTON, O., Jan. 31.—Two men, Charles Reman and Sidney Diehm, both 26, of Cincinnati, are faced today with a sojourn in the Ohio penitentiary of from two to seven years following their conviction on larceny charges.

PAIR CONVICTED ON CHARGES OF ARSON

LANCASTER, O., Jan. 31.—Two Columbus men, Arthur and Albert Sisco, are awaiting sentence here today, a jury having found them guilty of arson last night.

They are alleged to have destroyed a house owned by Arthur Sisco, in Clear Creek valley last July. Albert is said to have received $300 for his share in the "houseburning act."

"Virgil" Southern, of Washington, D. C., who had previously pleaded guilty on a like charge will be sentenced Saturday with the Sisco brothers.

POLICE FEAR BLAST WARNING IN MOVIE OPERATORS' FIGHT

Non-Union Operator
Target; Woman Suffers Shock

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 31.—Believed to be a warning against non-union motion picture operators, the home of Edgar J. Smart, on the west side here, was partially wrecked by a dynamite blast today.

The bombing is believed by police to be a warning to Edward J. Smart, the son of the owner of the home, who is an operator at a downtown theater.

The rear porch was completely torn from the house and almost every window in the building was shattered. Several pieces of furniture in the rear of the home were hurled through windows.

Young Smart was instrumental in organizing a group of independent workers who are employed by a group of theaters under the management of J. Real Neth. He was not at home when the blast occurred. He is being questioned by police.

The blast caused the collapse of the youth's 65-year-old mother, Mrs. Loretta Smart, who is being treated by physicians for shock.

A police guard has been placed around the damage dwelling to prevent any further outbreak.

The bombing is regarded as a climax to a conflict between local projectionists, which has been waging here for several months. Union officials are expected to investigate the trouble.

AGED MAN KILLED; CHILD IS INJURED

DAYTON, O., Jan. 31.—Nicholas Scott Howard, 80, is dead, and 6-year-old Wayne Gras is in a hospital here today as the result of two automobile accidents.

Howard received fatal injuries when he was struck by an automobile while he was crossing the street near his home Monday. He died early today.

The boy is in a critical condition in a hospital with a fractured skull and other serious injuries which he sustained when his sled ran into an automobile.

LAST GETTYSBURG VETERAN IS CALLED

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 31.—Taps were sounded here today for James Bruen Fisher, 87, Columbus' last surviving Civil War veteran of the battle of Gettysburg.

Fisher, gallant at the age of 17, and served three years, 1861-1864, in the fourth Ohio volunteer infantry. Among the battles in which he saw action were Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg and in the "wilderness campaign" which ultimately ended in the surrender of Lee.

Fisher was born in Marion, O., October 20, 1843.

MAY LINK NATIONS WITH ONE LANGUAGE

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Nation of the world linked in a single language.

This possibility received serious consideration today after two noted telephone authorities, Bancroft Gherardi and Dr. Frank B. Jewitt, predicted it might come about, while addressing the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

Trans-Atlantic telephone conversations, radio and the talkies are new factors which tend to increase the need for a universal tongue, they pointed out.

EDUCATION SENT TO PUPILS WITH RADIO TELEPHONE COMING

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 31.—Education distributed to pupils through the city simultaneously through the mediums of radio telephone and large assemblies, will be the experimental undertaking here soon.

Superintendent of Schools R. G. Jones, in outlining the work, declared it would be the biggest undertaking in the history of public schools. How far-reaching it will be, however, he declined to conjecture.

Under the new plan the services of a highly-trained, specialized teacher will be employed to reach all pupils in a given grade through the use of radio and auditorium assemblies. Should that plan prove successful, Jones said, it may be discarded in favor of teaching by way of a city-wide telephone hook-up.

With the telephone in use, the teacher will outline the lesson through an ordinary telephone at central school headquarters. Children in the various classrooms throughout the city will receive their instructions through loud speakers at the other ends of the wire.

Jones' tentative arrangements for the inauguration of the new system plan for the use of the specialist's instruction two days a week. On the other three days the classroom teacher will fill the gap by answering questions prompted by the specialist's remarks. The classroom teacher will also be provided with an advance copy of the lesson with which she may prepare the pupils for the lesson to come.

"You will hear our critics say that we will lose the personality of the teacher through the operation of the telephone and radio, but I think the criticism is groundless," Jones said in his report.

Referring to preliminary experiments along the same line in 1929, he said, "In broadcasting arithmetic lessons by radio, we found the personality of the teacher was as real to the children as if she were in the same room."

"I would say the pupils profited by two personalities, that of the teacher guiding their work in the classroom and that of the speaker talking through the air."

The next experiment in mass education will be with history students in the high schools. Eight hundred or more pupils will gather in one auditorium and have one of the specialists cover the subject from its broadest outlook.

To learn whether his system of mass education is practical, Jones plans to divide the pupils into two groups. One will have the benefit of the specialist's teaching, while the other will follow the program used in the past.

At the end of the course both groups will be given an examination and the result is expected to show whether the innovation was worth while.

HOG MARKET GOING UP SOON DECLARES ECONOMICS EXPERT

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 31.—"Every indication at present points toward an advancing hog market during the next few months," announces C. R. Arnold of the rural economics department of the Ohio State University here. "Storage holdings of pork and lard on December 1 were a little high, but not unduly so, and export demand has recently been very good. Receipts of hogs should continue rather low for another year."

In analyzing the hog situation, the grower is primarily interested in the outlook for production and market receipts during the coming year, Arnold points out. The fall pig crop for the United States as a whole, in 1929, was about the same size as that of the previous year, judging by the fall survey made by rural mail carriers, which touched 65,000 farmers.

"However, in the corn belt, where a very large percentage of our hogs are raised, these figures indicate about 4 per cent more pigs saved than during the previous fall," says Arnold. "But decreases in most regions outside the corn belt offset the increase in this area. In Ohio there were about 9 per cent fewer pigs saved than during the fall of 1928, but we must consider the corn belt and the United States as a whole to get a picture of the markets for the next year. These figures indicate no radical change taking place in hog production."

"Another item of primary interest is farmers' intentions to breed for spring farrowing. This report also shows no indication of radical change. It is very doubtful that we are heading toward any great increase in production during 1930. Apparently production is about on an even keel for this year and we are now at the bottom of the hog production cycle."

Renounces Millions

For the past four years Sir John Robert O'Connell, once Ireland's greatest legal advocate with an income of $500,000 a year, has been ministering to the poor in tunic and cowl as a priest at Somersham, England. After his wife's death he gave up his millions and took the vows of the Benedictine priesthood.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

Breaking a Family Tradition

Ardent football fans will, no doubt, brush away a few tears when they see Knute Rockne teaching his son, Jack, to take the proper stance before a golf ball on the links at Miami, Fla. Everyone seemed to think that the young son of the Notre Dame football mentor would be a prodigy forward passer by now so as to carry on with the splendid Rockne tradition.

Farm Notes

FARMERS WEEK
COLUMBUS, Jan. 31.—An engineer, a rural economist and specialists in every phase of poultry husbandry, will contribute to the program of the poultry husbandry department of the Ohio State University here during the eighteenth annual Farmers' Week on the campus, February 3 to 7.

All members of the poultry department of the university will be busy during the week. In addition, specialists on diseases, feeding and management, will discuss points within their fields. Dr. M. A. Jull of the United States department of agriculture will be one of the speakers, and several specialists from the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster, will appear.

Officials of the Ohio Poultry Improvement Association will review the work and the plans of that organization, during the week. B. M. Stahl of the agricultural engineering department of the university, will discuss the heating of poultry houses, and J. C. Neff, marketing

As the only comedian extant who does not want to play Shakespeare. Was "the noise without" in "Macbeth" at the age of 10.

Adopted horn rim spectacles for his "Lonesome Luke" characterizations. Has never visited an oculist.

Is rarely recognized off screen. During the run of "Welcome Danger" in New York used to stand outside the Rivoli every afternoon unrecognized by the thousands of fans who brushed him aside in their haste to get into the theater.

Has His Joke
Was once approached by a passerby who asked: "Can you please tell me whether Harold Lloyd is appearing here in person?"

"I don't know. I'm a stranger in town myself," was Lloyd's answer.

Owens the most pretentious home in Beverly Hills. Anywhere else it would be mistaken for a museum.

His name has never appeared on public endorsements of any kind. Consequently he pays for everything he uses.

Is member of the Masons, Wilshire Country Club, Shriners, Hollywood Athletic Club, Lambs, American Society of Magicians and Elks.

Carries Big "Wad"
Has autographed pictures of every world renowned celebrity on display in specially walled room. Always carries a roll of money held together by a rubber band in his left breast pocket. Calls it his "lucky wad" and would rather walk home than break into it.

Still rides to studio in small car presented him by Hal Roach. Has a Rolls and a fine American make for spare.

Maintains a publicity staff in New York and Hollywood. The only time he ever "crashes" a front page story is when he is ill.

Harold Lloyd

Has had only five leading ladies in fifteen years—Bette Daniels, Mildred Davis, Jobyna Ralston, Ann Christy and Barbara Kent. Married one of them—Mildred Davis—and has one child, Mildred Gloria.

Likes musical comedies from the first row orchestra. Is not bald headed.

under the supervision of William Hugh Miller, musical director of Xenia public schools, who will direct the minstrel.

The minstrel will be presented as a benefit for Shawnee Park. It is announced.

The exact nature of a "gridiron minstrel" is being kept a deep, dark secret by Kiwanians and Rotarians, although it is believed the performance, instead of being patterned after the old-fashioned type of a minstrel, will be given a modern twist. Charles A. Bone has been appointed general chairman by the two clubs with Walter Harner as business manager.

A publicity committee composed of Purl Cox and Thearl White and a program committee consisting of James D. Adair, Karl R. Babb, S. N. McCallan, John Baldner, Walter Wilson, Frederick Anderson and A. V. Miller, has also been named.

SENSATIONAL FINISH IN LAST QUARTER PUTS CONTEST ON ICE

Hurley Leads Buccaneer Scoring Attack But Locals Weak At Foul Line; Rally After Visitors Lose Two Players On Fouls

By PHIL FRAME

ORGING far ahead in the last quarter after two Middle players had been banished from the game on personal fouls, Xenia Central High's basketball team carved out a 30 to 15 victory over Middletown High in a listless contest Thursday night at the local gymnasium.

The Bucs were out in front at the end of each period, leading 7 to 3 at the close of the first quarter, 11 to 5 at the half and 15 to 13 when the third period ended, but when Offenhauer, forward, and Strong, big colored center, left the game on personals, Xenia rolled up fifteen points in the last eight minutes, holding the Middies to two counters.

The first quarter was slow. Hurley opened the scoring with a free try and Strong shot a foul for the visitors. Mr. Wendt gave his team a two-point lead with a short shot after which the Bucs found the range. Hurley, Dalton and Bell contributed baskets as the period closed.

Foul throws by Hurley and Price increased Xenia's advantage to six points in the second period. C. Wendt came through with a long shot and Hurley added a two-point shot for the Bucs as the half ended.

Changing from a zone defense to the man-for-man style as the third period started, the Middies opened with a rush and piled up seven straight points, and Xenia's six point lead not only evaporated but the visitors assumed the pace-setting position by one point.

Offenhauer, acting captain, was fouled by Price in the act of shooting and made both throws good. He then found the range twice from mid-floor, evening matters, and Abel added a foul, putting the Middies ahead.

The lead was short-lived, however, as Smittle dribbled in neatly for a sucker shot and then added

JUNIOR HIGH TEAM BEATS HOME SCOUT FIVE ON THURSDAY

Cadets Are Almost Shut Out; Lose By 15 To 2 Score

Central Junior High basketballers registered their sixth consecutive victory at the expense of the O. S. and S. O. Home Boy Scout troop team, winning by a margin of 15 to 2 in a preliminary to the Xenia Central-Middletown contest at Central gymnasium Thursday night.

The Home troop was held scoreless until the fourth period when LeRoy, center, sank a basket for his team's two points. Scoring honors for Central Juniors were shared by Luttrell and Batson, each making four points.

Central Juniors hope to preserve their victory string in a game with Dayton Oakwood High Juniors at the local gym Friday night. This game will be preceded by a preliminary at 7:15 between Xenia Central and Dayton Oakwood reserve quintets. The lineups:

Central Juniors.	G. F. P.	Home Scouts.	G. F. P.
P. Dalton, f.	1 1 3	Schuck, f.	0 0 0
Luttrell, f.	2 0 4	Jones, f.	0 0 0

Referee—Howell Huston. Timer—Wagner.

The Orange Crusader won the Ohio title in 1925 and in 1929 and the Stivers quintet this season, as yet unbeaten, looms as an outstanding favorite to retain the championship, although admittedly the team is not as strong as last year.

Once before Stivers won the Class A title three years in a row, in 1919, 1920 and 1921. Stivers has won the championship seven years since 1919 and no other Ohio school except Delaware has won it more than once. Delaware accomplished the trick twice.

Other years in which Stivers ruled supreme on the court in Ohio were in 1916 and 1924.

Greene County Class B entrants in the sectional tournament of the Southwest District March 7 and 8 will play at Springfield along with basketball teams of Clark, Logan and Champaign Counties. Montgomery, Darke, Shelby, Miami and Shelby County teams will gather at Dayton; Butler, Warren, Preble and Clinton County teams at Middletown; and Brown, Clermont and Hamilton County quintets at Cincinnati. The Class B semi-finals will be held at the Dayton Coliseum March 14 and 15.

The Class A sectional tournament will be transferred this year to the Dayton Coliseum from Springfield as far as the representatives from Greene, Darke, Shelby, Miami, Montgomery, Clark, Champaign and Logan Counties are concerned. Clark A teams of Hamilton, Butler and Clinton will compete at the University of Cincinnati.

LAYOLA DEFEATED BY PURDUE QUINTET

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 31.—An old argument is settled here today with Purdue's 25-to-20 victory over the Loyola University basketball team.

They are regarded as two of the most powerful basketball fives in this region and last night's game was carried into an overtime session in which Purdue managed to break the tie.

The battle was closely fought throughout.

CEDARVILLE KICKS OVER DOPE BUCKET; DEFEATS ROSS HIGH

Before a throng of nearly 1,200 fans who packed Alford gymnasium at Cedarville to capacity Thursday night, the Cedarville High School "Cardinals" upset all calculations by coming from behind to snatch a 29 to 24 victory from the strongly favored Ross Twp. High School quintet.

Trailing at one stage of the second half by eight points, Cedarville slowly but surely reduced the Ross lead and in the last ten seconds of play with his team behind by one point Harris, forward, sent the winning basket spinning through the net. Harrison shot a foul after the game was over to make the margin of victory two points.

Cedarville started off with a rush, leading Ross by a score of 8 to 5 at the conclusion of the first period, but in the second period Ross hit its stride and led at the half, 17 to 11. At the close of the third quarter Ross boasted 23 to 18 advantage but Cedarville staged a belated and winning rally in the final chukker.

Cedarville told Abel, center, on personals shortly after the start of the second period, but soon afterward Reid, Ross guard, experienced a like fate. Ross was further weakened in the closing minutes of play when Swain and Gordon were also banished on four personals each.

Officials called a total of twenty-eight fouls for infractions of the rules.

Cedarville's victory was considered surprising in view of the strong showing made by the Ross team this season.

Harris and Bates, each with eight points, shared individual scoring honors for the winners, but all members of the team played heads-up ball, especially Harrison, who used his height to good advantage. For Ross Pittstick and Swain each tallied nine points.

Behind at the half, 17 to 14, Cedarville girls' team also staged a comeback in the last half to register a 32 to 26 victory over the Ross sextet in a preliminary. Ross averaged something from the wreck-age, however, when its junior team outlasted Cedarville Juniors for a 30 to 7 victory in the first preliminary of the evening. The lineups:

OTTAWA'S MAYOR IS SERVING HIS SIXTH TERM; CAN'T QUIT

OTTAWA, O., Jan. 31.—William A. Beutler, who on January 1 entered upon his sixth term as mayor of Ottawa, directed relief activities to more than 200 marooned families in the flooded district of Ottawa recently.

Beutler, labored with the knowledge that the next call might be from his own home, to remove Mrs. Beutler and their children from the residence to safer quarters.

The mayor's home, one of the most delightful in Ottawa, is located at Third and Sugar Sts., in the northwest section of the city. It is built upon a small hill. In summer, the residence is surrounded by beautiful scenery of shrubs and flowers.

At Christmas time the large Yuletide tree—always placed on the spacious porch—radiates cheer to passersby.

Beutler, who has efficiently served the village of Ottawa as selected as a chance candidate when he made his first campaign. The late Dr. Albert F. Shelby, for twenty-five years coroner of Putnam County, at that time was chairman of the Democratic committee in Ottawa. He was at a loss to find a candidate to make the race.

It was nearly midnight of the last day for filing petitions. Still Democrats had no candidate.

Eleven thirty came and then 11:40. Shelby had a quick conference with his committeemen. He scratched his head, as if in deep thought. Those who knew him best said he never made a mistake in his political deductions.

"Take my car, hurry over to Bill Beutler's," he told Vincent Wortman.

"Tell Bill he's got to run. Hurry for the required list of signatures. Get back here so that I may take a look at the petition and then get down to the board of elections before 12 o'clock."

Wortman carried out the commands of his chief. He aroused Beutler from sleep, told him Dr. Shelby's command and together they hurriedly aroused Democrats and got signatures for the petition.

It was 11:59 of the last hour of the last day for filing petitions when Wortman and Beutler, breathless, strode into the election board offices.

Beutler was elected by a big majority. He has done the same thing over again every time since.

He tried in November to slip away from the job. But the people of Ottawa wouldn't let him. Again he was re-elected by a big majority.

He announced, following election, that under no circumstances would he permit his name to be used another time.

But it is probable the people will do like they did in November—turn around and elect him again and force him to take the office.

LINK CAPONE WITH YALE MURDER, CHICAGO MASSACRE

Just as soon as Al "Scarface" Capone is released from the Philadelphia jail, where he has been incarcerated for a year, he will be faced with the serious problem of explaining how it happened that bullets, from a machine gun, which he is supposed to own, were found in the bodies of Frankie Yale, slain wealthy Brooklyn racketeer, and the seven "Bugs" Moran gangsters who were massacred on last St. Valentine's day in Chicago. Photos show Grover Whalen, New York police commissioner, who declares the gun from which the bullets were fired is Capone's; (2) Fred Burke, fugitive gangster, linked with Capone, the Yale slaying and the massacre, in whose home at St. Joseph, Mich., the alleged Capone gun was found; (3) Col. Calvin Goddard, left, Chicago, ballistic expert, and Coroner Herman Bundesen, of Chicago, who examined the bullets and declared they were fired from the same gun; (4) Capone, and (5) George "Bugs" Moran, Capone's rival in the liquor racket.

Will This Bar Customs Comptroller?

This photograph of an alleged bar with empty liquor bottles and slot machines has been made public by G. Rowland Munroe, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey, who says it is one of those made at the hunting lodge of Colonel Arthur F. Foran, comptroller of cusoms in New York. The Foran hunting lodge is at Mount Airy, Hunterdon County, N. J. Harold Nadel, a private investigator, is said to have looked through a window and seen the old-time bar, including bottles, cash register and slot machines.

Mansion of an Underworld Prince

"Modernesque," the palatial mansion of Michael J. "Mickey" Duffy, alleged gang leader and long an outstanding figure in the Quaker City's underworld. The house is Spanish mission in its architectural classification and is said to have cost $65,000, which Duffy paid in full in $1,000 bills. The interior is ultra-modern in design, with sharp angles and broken circles in contrasting color schemes. Its elaborate furnishings are believed to be unrivaled anywhere throughout the world. (Inset) Michael J. "Mickey" Duffy.

ARMY PATROL GETS VALUABLE WINTER FLYING DATA

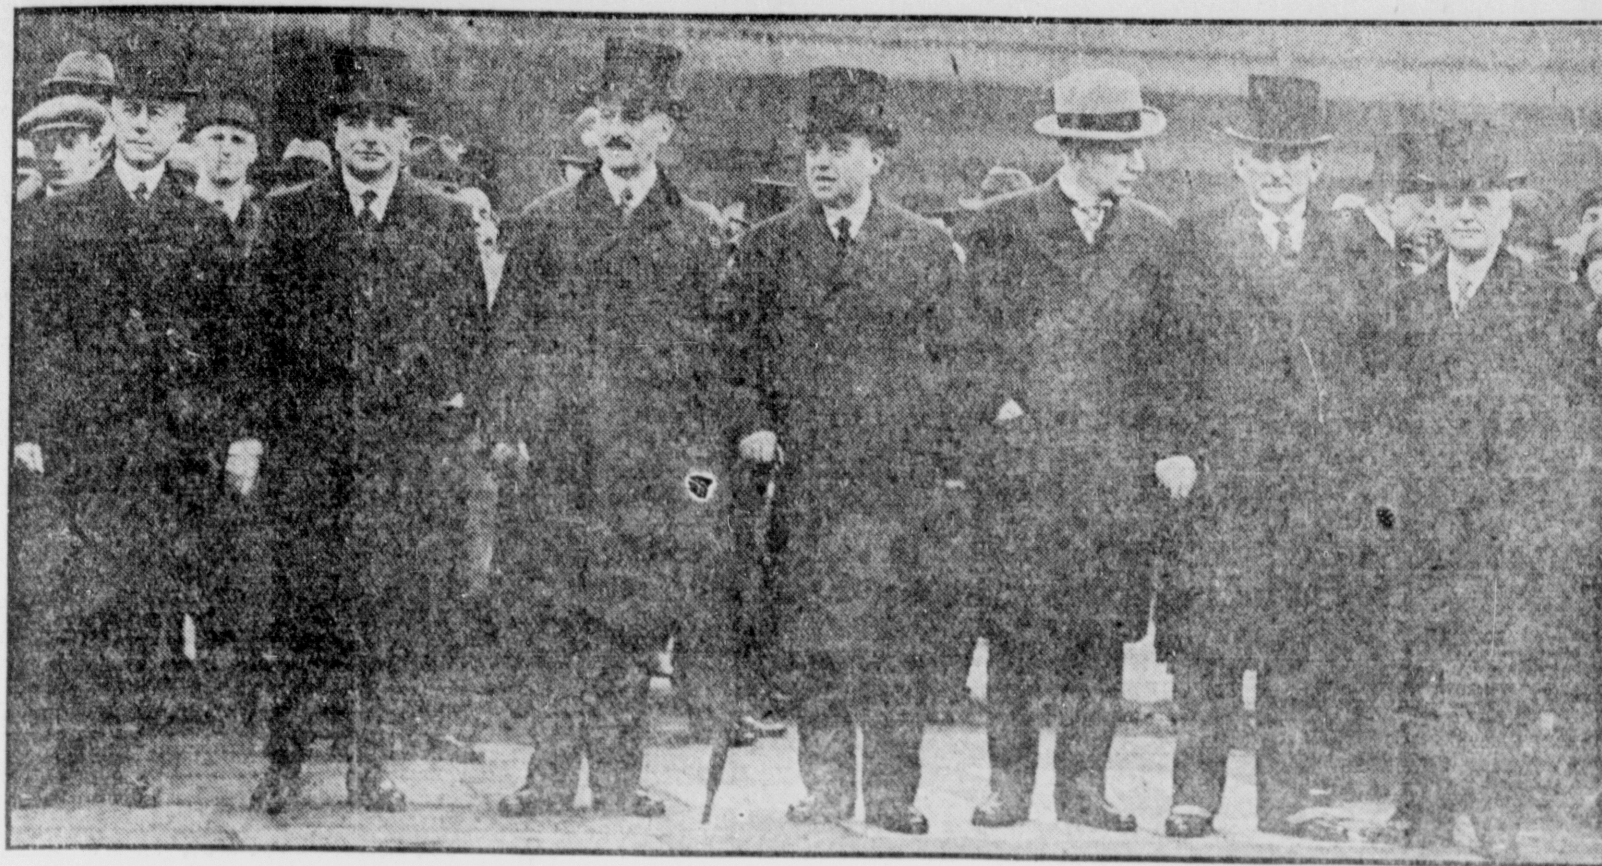

Seventeen pursuit planes and one tri-motored transport ship which made the arduous flight from Selfridge Field, Detroit, to Spokane, Wash., are making their way back to the Michigan base. Major Ralph Royce, commanding the patrol, believes the flight has been of great value in demonstrating what ships could do under extreme winter weather conditions and in showing what improvements are necessary for safer winter flying. Photo shows a general view of some of the planes at Newman Lake, Wash.

Costly Insult

Because a man made a slighting remark about waitresses, this young lady, Miss Zelma Jolly, of Jackson, Miss., is $15,000 richer. The state supreme court awarded her this amount in a slander suit against Romeo Favretto. She's going to use the money to study law, but won't quit her safe job until she decides which school to attend.

American Delegates to Naval Conference

BRINGS PHILIPPINE DANCE TO U. S.

All a thrill over an interpretation of the national dance of the Philippines which she learned last year, Mme. Argentina, Spanish dancer, has arrived in San Francisco for a tour of America. The dance, which she witnessed at a fete at the University of Manila, is called "Carinosa," which means caressing, and is done in Philippine costume.

WHERE BYRD PARTY FACES POSSIBLE STARVATION

Relief measures are under way to rescue Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, inset, and his 42 men from another winter in Little America, as death by starvation or freezing threatens the party. Several Norwegian whaling ships are believed to be in the vicinity of the Ross sea, among them the C. A. Larsen, below, which may succeed in battering their way through the ice pack to the marooned men. Map shows the location of the heavy ice which prevented the City of New York, above, from taking fresh food supplies to the Byrd party.

Chief Mail Inspector

William R. Spilman has assumed his new duties in Washington as chief inspector of the postoffice department. In the postoffice service, 31 years, and hailing from Manhattan, Kan., Spilman succeeds the late Grant B. Miller.

Fights Divorce Suit

From the fairway of the golf course to the "rough" of the courtroom is the path of Mrs. Nina G. Young, women's champion of the golf states in 1925. She is in Los Angeles to fight the divorce suit brought by her husband, Dr. Carl O. Young, wealthy Chicago physician, in Los Angeles.

Deserts Society for Stage

June Blossom, society debutante, announced her plans to desert her social set of New York, Boston and Palm Beach, and devote most of her time in effort to reach starring heights on the musical comedy stage. She will spend the Summer in Europe, and in the Fall will join the company of an operetta, which ran in Paris last year, and which may be produced in New York. (International Newsweek)

"Much Safer in the Air"

Miss Loraine Deffen, Boston aviatrix, was injured in an auto crash in Brookline, Mass. She declared, when interviewed at the Deaconess Hospital, that it was "much safer in the air." (International Newsweek)

A Religion for the Scientific

In the quiet Quaker town of Swarthmore, Pa., a spirited movement to modernize religious teachings has had its beginning. This movement, undertaken with regard for present-day thought and pres-

Scotch Baron Frees N. J. Bride

Elaine Dolores Cubbon, popular member of the younger set of northern New Jersey, became the bride of Sir Arthur John Frederick Nicholson, Bart., eleventh of his line, member of the Scottish bar and owner of vast estates in the Highlands, when she visited Scotland in 1926. Cable information from Scotland brought news to Lady Nicholson that the Scottish Peer had been granted an annulment of the marriage.

SEALED PROPOSALS

Department of Adjutant General.

The Adjutant General of Ohio will receive sealed proposals for labor and material required in the erection and completion of a State Armory to be built at Xenia, Ohio, according to plans and specifications prepared for the same by Fred W. Elliott, State Armory Architect, Columbus, Ohio.

Plans and specifications are on file in the office of the Auditor of State, and the Architect, Columbus, Ohio.

Each bidder shall submit with his proposal a bond in a sum equal to one hundred per cent (100%) of his bid, and to be conditional upon the bidder entering into a contract for the work within ten (10) days after notice of award; and, further conditional upon the contractor executing the work according to the drawings and specifications within the times specified in the contract should the work be awarded to him.

Each bond shall be signed by a Surety Company legally authorized to sign such bonds in the State of Ohio, or by not less than two sureties, whose sole liability for the obligation contained in the bond is certified by the Auditor of the County in which the bondsmen reside.

The proposal and bond shall be enclosed in the same envelope, and be delivered to A. W. Reynolds, Adjutant General of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio, not later than 12 o'clock noon, Eastern Standard Time February 10th, 1930.

Each envelope shall be indorsed with the name of the bidder, and the class of work bid upon.

By order of
A. W. REYNOLDS
The Adjutant General.

FOR THE LOVE o' PAT

By C. L. WEBB © 1929

READ THIS FIRST:

Arriving in New York from Paris shortly after the close of the World War, Lieutenant Rex Dallard, Dr. Frank Gordon, Nurse Margery Lynne and Patricia Blair set about frustrating Herbert Maxwell's plot to rob Patricia Blair and her twin brother, Jimmy, of their fortune.

Maxwell, the twins' guardian, plans to produce a fake brother in order to obtain half the fortune. He is keeping Jimmy, an aphasia victim, under cover. The day for the settlement of the Blair estate nears, and Patricia, remembering that the real Jimmy can be identified by an appendix scar, and because his heart is on the right side, plans to checkmate Maxwell when the day arrives.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIII

"Terribly angry," she said, her brown eyes sparkling. "I'm almost as mad as a wet hen! However, I'll forgive you this time for I'm just a little mite worried about you, my dear. I'm just a little afraid that Marge is a wee bit daffy."

That she is having hallucinations! She says that no one else sees! How Rex Dallard would laugh if some one told him that Pat Blair was breaking his poor Irish heart! And Doctor Frank too! Where do you get that stuff, dear Marge?"

Margery, her momentary fear dispelled, was again her old self.

"All right, if you think it's stuff," she said. "But if I ever in my life saw a man 'goofy' over a girl that man is Rex Dallard and you're the girl! Doctor Frank has a bad case, too, but he has more restraint than Rex. Rex shows it every time he looks at you and every time you speak to him directly!"

"What a pity, what a pity!" said Pat in a dolorous tone. "Such nice sensible men, too, apparently!"

The other girl looked at her with a mixture of curiosity and wonder well seasoned with doubt. It occurred to Margery that Pat's attitude might be assumed for special reasons of her own.

A possibility, as it happened, that was not so far from the truth. Pat had her reasons, as all women believe they have, both for thinking and for acting as she did.

It had been decided, at the earnestly expressed wish of Pat, that besides her three friends, Dallard, Gordon and Margery and the lawyer engaged by Rex, her morale for the coming ordeal should be further strengthened by the addition of Charlotte Lynne. Pat felt that her morale—or to use the old-fashioned word, nerve—needed all the stiffening that could be injected into it.

The prospect of meeting a man who was to be presented as her twin brother, the man she, here, had once designated as her brother—and knowing she was going to deny the relationship—was a prospect sufficient to worry any woman. The additional fact that it was upon her ability or failure to prove the man to be other than James K. Blair that depended the gain or loss to her brother of a fortune of ten million dollars and more, might worry any woman. If the forfeiture of that ten million dollars would have given Patricia Blair the wish of her heart that morning—the same return to her of her twin brother—it is safe in saying the ten million would have been forfeited.

Coincident with the meeting of the three women and the three men on the morning of January first in the reception room of a Broadway hotel and following the introduction of the lawyer Rex Dallard asked Pat if she had sent the night message to her family doctor as he had suggested. At the question Margery began to laugh.

"What's the idea?" asked Rex when the laughter had finally subsided.

Margery explained. Pat looked on and grinned tolerantly.

"You suggested last night that she send a night message of fifty words," said the former.

"Yes," agreed Rex. "What about it?"

"Well," continued the tattler, "Pat filled out one message to the limit and filed it. Then she filled out another and filed that. Still another. And yet one more, while I stood by waiting—patiently, as usual. But don't imagine that fifth was the last. The rest is yet to come; three more—eight altogether—four hundred words!"

"And I didn't tell him the half I wanted to, at that!" cut in Pat in her own defense. "Doctor Gardner is the oldest friend I have in the world! He knew me when I weighed less than three pounds!"

He was the first to see and greet me! I remember it well! He said: 'Hello, little folks! Just like that. I said: 'Howdy, Doc!' Now do you wonder that I used eight sheets in telling him things?"

And she said it all with the facial expression of a wooden Indian. The lawyer, Otto Marks, laughed delightedly. Rex Dallard grinned. The doctor coughed.

"I wouldn't wonder at anything after that, Pat," he told her with tears in his eyes.

Then followed a review of their plan of action as arranged by Dallard. Everything depended, of course, upon the procedure to be taken by Maxwell. If he put forth his substitute, the man they had seen at C—, in France, and later at Paris, as the brother of Pat, then she was to enter her protest, and the lawyer would ask for a stay of proceedings for a week.

She had made no effort to get in touch with the executor of the Blair holdings previous to the hour set for the transfer. That had been specified in the will which named the trust company as custodian of all the James K. Blair securities. She had telephoned to the president of this company the day before and he had told her that Herbert Maxwell on the day previous to that had telephoned, asking if any word had been received from his ward, Miss Blair. He had stated, incidentally, that he would be at the trust company's office on the date named in the will for the transfer, accompanied by James K. Blair, Jr., whom he had brought back to New York from Paris after the young man had suffered an injury to the brain in a fall from his airplane. The president of the company, Mr. Grierson, told Pat that he, himself, would be present for the ceremony. He would meet her and her lawyer, he said, in his private office a few moments before the appointed hour, when he would have told them, Mr. Maxwell was waiting.

Patricia Blair found her part cut out for her immediately upon and following close on the heels of her meeting with Herbert Maxwell that morning. She, with the lawyer and her friends, had met Mr. Grierson, the president of the trust company, in his office and the latter conducted them to the directors' room where, he had told them, Mr. Maxwell was waiting.

Mr. Grierson also had spoken truly. Mr. Maxwell also had his part not only cut out but planned out in advance for him on that eventful morning. Mr. Maxwell demonstrated, too, that he could play his part in a most convincing manner. He took as his cue to get into action the entrance of his ward who followed immediately after Mr. Grierson.

"Well, well, and here is my dear Patricia at last!" he exclaimed in the voice and manner of one immensely pleased as he stepped forward.

On the Road to Fame

Kathleen Kersting has made true the dreams of her parents and herself by appearing on the American opera stage, she is shown with her mother and father, of Wichita, Kansas. They are reading the cast of "Fidelio" in which Kathleen appeared as Marzellina. She made her first theatrical appearance in one of her home town theatres. She recently made her debut with the Chicago Civic Opera Company, where she was wildly acclaimed by the audience and critics alike.

The Theater

The famous old Knickerbocker Theater, landmark of the city when the theater was the theater, went down like an old trouper recently, to make way for a skyscraper. It was located at Broadway and 38th St., in New York City.

Due to its caste until the final, arched the voices of legitimate actors in rehearsal until just the wrecking crew descended upon its hoary memories.

Henry Irving and Ellen Terry led the theater in "Becket" back in 1893. It was called the Knickerbocker Theater then. Sara Bernhardt, Anna Held, Maude Adams, Dan Russell, Julia Marlowe, Dan Warfield, Mrs. Minnie Madd add Maxine Elliott, Julia Benson, Nat Goodwin, George S. Morley, and the late Jeanne Eagels and Douglas Banks to the star-studded list, the house-wrecking crew tore down like an old grandstand.

Fluke, Sothern, Beebohm and William Gillette, the ones of a past generation, crossed the Knickerbocker stage.

Margaret Perry, sixteen-year-old Ave. debutante, had her first party on the stage, singing overnight the leading role in "Strictly Dishonorable" by Muriel Kirkland became ill, and were unanimously praised her noteworthy performance, during the recovery of Miss Perry, Margaret returned to her school.

Jolson opened a concert tour, Texas Saturday evening from there went to Wichita, and other stops. In two weeks he will end his tour at New York when Mrs. Jolson (Ruby) will join him and they will tour New York for a stay.

The Davy Lee, Jolson's child, in several of his successful appearances, is back in Hollywood after just completing a personal appearance tour of the country. He is reported to have banked $100,000 as a result of the tour.

Yellow Springs Presbyterians Will Observe Seventy-Fifth Anniversary

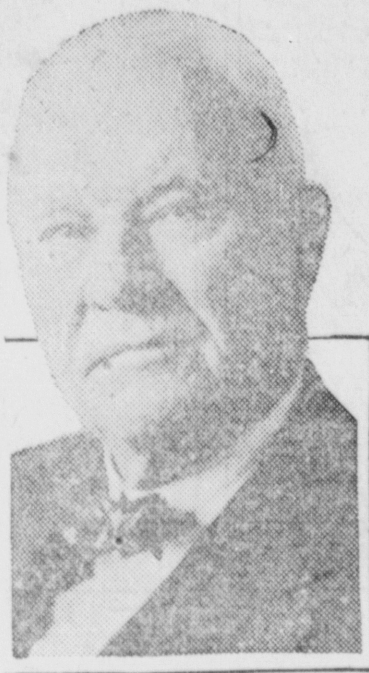

By Miss Olivia Cox
(Special to Gazette)

The seventy-fifth anniversary of the organization of the Presbyterian Church of Yellow Springs, will be celebrated Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock and in the evening at 7:30 at the church.

The Rev. W. O. Thompson, D. D., president emeritus of Ohio State University and former moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., will be the anniversary speaker at both the Sunday services.

The pastor and session have extended invitations to the Methodist congregation of Yellow Springs and the Presbyterian churches of neighboring towns to attend the Sunday evening service. The Masonic Quartet under the leadership of Earl Littleton, will furnish special music at the evening service.

Monday evening at 6:30 a congregational supper will be served to the members of the congrega-

"KONJOLA DID MORE GOOD THAN ALL ELSE TRIED"

Victim of Nervousness and Pain Found First and Only Relief In New Medicine

"Konjola did me more good than all the medicines I tried put together," says Mr. Levi Homan, 2464 Germantown St., Dayton. "For a long time," he adds, "I suffered from extreme nervousness and pain throughout my body. I was weak, worn out and tired all the time, and kept getting worse as medicine after medicine failed."

"Konjola was recommended to me, and it certainly turned out to be the very medicine I needed; the medicine I should have had in the first place. I took six bottles, and in six weeks my nerves were calm and every sign of pain had vanished. My appetite is fine and I sleep as I should. My work is a joy instead of drudgery, and all this new and glorious health I owe to Konjola. No wonder this medicine has won more than a million friends. I recommend it to one and all, for Konjola is certainly a medicine of performances instead of promises."

Konjola is a new and different medicine of 32 ingredients, 22 of them the juices of roots and herbs long known for their medicinal value. Konjola works quickly and thoroughly at the very root, the fount of the life of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and of rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. Konjola is not designed to give mere temporary relief, but to bring new, glorious and lasting health.

Konjola is sold in Xenia at the Gallaher drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section. Adv.

tion. Miss May Garrison will read the history of the church at this supper meeting. The members will be called upon to tell interesting experiences that took place in former years. An old fashioned sitting-room will be fitted up with relics and antiques by gone days and the church will be lighted with candles and oil lamps. The guests will likely be dressed in clothes that they resurrected from their trunks and closets—the styles of the "good old days."

MORE WAYS TO KILL BLIND TIGER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—There's more than one way to kill a cat and incidentally the United States attorney's office here has inaugurated a unique practice in prosecutions under the Jones "five and ten" prohibition act.

When a petit jury acquitted Irvin Rosenberg on a charge of violating the Jones act, Assistant District Attorney Walter M. Shea refused to try another prohibition case before the same jury panel, sought and obtained from Justice Peyton Gordon a continuance until February when another panel will be sitting, and then obtained Rosenberg's commitment to jail on a perjury charge.

Shea told the court he intended to swear to a warrant against Rosenberg because the latter testified he was only a passenger in a liquor car. Justice Gordon sitting as a committing magistrate decided he'd jail Rosenberg so the acquitted man couldn't get away while Shea was getting the warrant.

COASTER RUN OVER; NOT SERIOUSLY HURT

A youth whose name is believed to be Chaney, about 12 years of age, escaped serious injury about 7:30 o'clock Friday morning while coasting on a sled west on E. Main St. when he was run over by an unidentified autoist. The car, traveling east, passed over the lad's body, it is said, but the wheels did not. Witnesses said the boy was coasting in the middle of the street and that the accident was unavoidable. The extent of the youth's injuries could not be learned but they were not believed to be serious.

EAST SUFFERS SNOW STORMS

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Snow which fell steadily during the previous twelve hours had melted today, leaving the streets with only a thin layer.

Other cities did not fare so well.

In Washington twelve inches of snow clogged streets and tied up traffic.

Snow fell yesterday in Tallahassee, Fla., and low temperatures were reported at Pensacola, Jacksonville and other southern cities.

A forty-five-mile gale buried Atlantic City under snow drifts.

Heavy snow fell in Philadelphia and in Baltimore and other parts of Maryland a fall of eleven inches was reported.

For the first time this season Lake Champlain was frozen over as a result of a heavy drop in temperature.

In northern New England severe cold prevailed.
